Remote Meetings Made Easy

Let's face it: businesses run on meetings. And if you're the one organizing those meetings it's a real challenge to make them compelling and productive, particularly when they involve people in remote locations. Audio conferencing is simple to use but lacks the interactive features you need to command attention and inspire true collaboration. Web conferencing engages your audience, but the technology traditionally has been complex and often required extensive training to use effectively.

Luckily, Pioneer is about to change all that. We've built on our years of experience in the conferencing industry to create the next-generation of web conferencing – a one-stop solution that eliminates the hassle involved with planning, accessing and conducting remote meetings.

SEE, HEAR & SHARE

When everyone in your meeting is together, a powerful set of easy-to-use features is available to all participants. Yet the moderator retains control and can employ these features to help keep discussions on-track and productive.

- ▶ Make live, face-to-face contact with participants and read body language through integrated desktop video. Follow the person speaking, take the podium to focus attention on a subject, activate or hide your video.
- ▶ Share any documents that you can print and convert them while preserving animations and effects. To enhance security, all documents reside securely on the presenter's computer rather than a central host.
- ▶ Share applications and edit documents in real-time with the industry's most reliable and seamless application sharing feature.

Everything You Need for Meetings That Work

Meeting Edition is the remote meeting solution that integrates audio, web and desktop video in one easy-to-use service. Pioneer enhances traditional audio conferences by allowing participants to see, hear and interact as if everyone is in the same room – and on the same page. No complicated web technologies or anxious moments. Just better meetings through the simplicity and intuitiveness of Meeting Edition.

Assembling the Team has Never Been so Simple

Traditional meetings are a chore. Bringing people together at the same time with the right meeting materials is a huge task and for all the effort involved, the results can leave much to be desired. Meeting Edition is the smart alternative. Meeting Edition includes true Outlook® integration that allows you to plan meetings in advance or on-the-fly and bring participants into your meeting with just one click of the mouse. Accessing the audio portion of the meeting is just as simple; our unique OpenGo™ audio feature automatically calls you and your participants when the conference begins, eliminating the need to remember dial-in numbers.

Simplify the Meetings in Your Life

Pioneer provides a total, integrated solution for your remote communication needs that is as engaging as a live meeting. Meeting Edition empowers users with dynamic, easy-to-use features that are accessed from an intuitive interface. With the most advanced technology in the market, Meeting Edition brings your meetings to life like never before.
